

1.1.76
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, August 11, 2003

www.NewCovenant.me

1. Teach My people to pray Ted. This is one of your primary tasks.

This is your assignment which is central to all other instructions I have given you.

So many voices, so much music, so much data—

Ted, the minds are so full, but the spirits are so empty.

Please, please Ted, teach My people to pray and take for granted never, never, never—that who you are talking with, sharing with, teaching or leading or following—that they know how to pray. Always be open to Me to speak Me and let Me speak, and share My Me, which that person or people group needs the most.

2. Intimate communion with Me Ted, is what My people need most—plain, simple, in big block letters, plain, simple, spelled out for you and your readers and all beside you and behind you.

Intimate communion with Me is what My people need most.

Healing salve is applied.

Wounds, wounded parts, wounds, healed.

The dead made alive, emotioned, energized in My empowerment.

The abased and neglected and thought-worthless—influentialized.

3. My people need Me. My people need Me. My people need Me.
Not other men, Me, Me, Me.

I will kiss and elevate every chooser who chooses to impart Me to Mine in intimate communion, intimate communion, intimate communion.

The physical elements of communion cannot supplant the reality of My presence, My presence, the Living Me, the Living and New Covenant, made flesh, made atonement, made resurrection for all from death into life, life, life—eternal life with Me.

4. Me—central.
Me—at the core.
Me—not any other thought or element.
Me—My presence, My living presence.
Me—I am.

